

Campaigner Adjunct
for the
Return to Manassas Event (RTM)
Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania
Friday, August 27 – Sunday, August 29, 2010

Overview

For our 'Return to Manassas' battalion, we will portray a single regiment on a usually neglected campaign, issue detailed fate cards; adhere to a tight historical script; and reenact soldier experiences on campaign. We will curse our terrible leadership for marching us at all hours covering the same roads several times with no apparent sense. And rations! Short but accurate. At "Return to Manassas," we will combine our desire to see larger numbers with our determination to do so in a fairly accurate setting. Now, with a superb battalion staff, if we don't go forward and win victories, we will at least experience a small portion of what the 26th New York went through during the Second Bull Run Campaign. In conclusion, our participants are urged to understand our concept. We will NOT burn a lot of powder or see battle very often. We will see the campaign through the eyes of a single regiment. Beware! This venue is only for the serious living historian.
